

Customised Virtual Training for Work from Home Teams

With staff already or soon to be asked to work from home, as a result of COVID-19, many organisations are looking for ways to keep their teams connected, engaged and informed in the current climate of uncertainty, or to maximise office closures to upskill staff with skills they can immediately increase their productivity and maintain connection.

Productivity expert Donna Hanson's "done for you" Microsoft Office or Zoom video conferencing virtual programs makes equipping your staff with the skills they need to operate and maximise working from home easy.

So what does the done for you solution look like?

We provide you with:

- Pre-session survey to determine what your team WANT and NEED to increase their productivity.
- A promotional outline for distribution to your staff via email
- Provision of software to register and manage webinar registrations
- Automated distribution of customised reference materials
- Delivery of a customised webinar for your organisation
- Provision of on-line feedback survey
- Provision of 90 day post session access for all your staff to enable them to revisit the webinar for up to 90 days from the live presentation.
- Electronic summary of feedback and registration details.
